

Scottish mathematician John Leslie died on this FAMUS day in 1832.

"He was short and fat...tottered when walking...dressed slovenly but, in an attempt to appear engaging, the affluent and vain but grubby bachelor dyed his hair purple."

-quote of a biographer of Leslie

FAMUS [Friday Afternoon Math Undergrad Seminar]

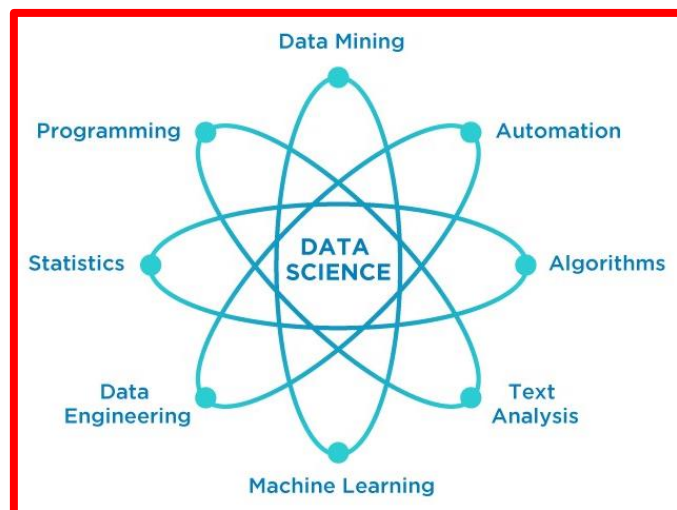

- every Friday
- at 3:00 p.m.
- in Room 164
- of the Adel Mathematics Building

[and snacks are always served!!!!]

November 3rd topic

Data Science versus the FDA

[presented by
Derek Sonderegger]

November 3rd guest

Derek Sonderegger

ALL MATHEMATICS MAJORS ARE ENCOURAGED AND EXPECTED AND ENCOURAGED TO ATTEND